BANKERS LIKELY TO BE NAMED

To Represent America in the Reparations Inquiry.

SCHIFF A PROBABLE CHOICE

Morrow and Dawes, Associated With the House of Morgan, and Reynolds of Chicago Also Mentioned—Congress to Seek Information on the Plan For American Participation In Inquiry.

Washington, Dec. 13.—A demand from the senate for information on the Coolidge-Hughes plan for American participation in the reparations controversy is in prospect.

One proposal under discussion was that a request be made of Secretary of State Hughes for exact information as to what part the United States had taken in negotiations looking toward an inquiry into German finances. Another suggestion was that a resolution calling for such information be introduced on the floor of the senate.

Meanwhile from the white house and the state department plans were pushed toward the conclusion of the understanding for American membership on the two committees to be set up under the auspices of the reparations commission.

Although official emphasis was placed on the point that the invitations to membership would be issued from the commission, it was quite obvious that, in fact, the president and Mr. Hughes would select the American delegates. The men selected, it is certain, will have the endorsement of international banking interests vitally concerned in European financial difficulties.

Mortimer L. Schiff, international banker of New York, was summoned to the white house by the president for a conference on the latest development in the reparations problem. He was closeted with the president for more than an hour. Mr. Schiff has intimate knowledge of German finances. His family, next to the Rothschilds, holds a high place in the German financial world.

Another New Yorker banker mentioned as a probable choice for American member of the committees is Dwight P. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Company. Mr. Morrow was a classmate of the president in college.

Charles G. Dawes, Chicago, intimately associated with the house of Morgan, is most prominently mentioned as the middle western candidate. George M. Reynolds, Chicago banker, also has been urged as the middle western representative. The third American to serve on the committees, it is expected, will be chosen from the district west of the Mississippi river, probably from the Pacific coast.

NEGRO LEADERS WIN

Representation in South and North Increased by Committee.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The Republican national committee, backed by administration leaders, restored representation in the 1924 national convention from the "black belt" virtually to the same as in 1920.

The demand of negro leaders, headed by Henry Lincoln Johnson, negro national committeeman from Georgia, that the negro Republicans of the south not be "disfranchised" was acceded to. At the same time the committee practically nullified the effect of this increase by adding one delegate to each state that cast its electoral vote for the Republican ticket in 1920. The total convention vote of 1,036, fixed by a subcommittee under the reapportionment authorized by the 1920 convention, was increased to 1,110.

The committee selected Cleveland as the place and June 10 the date for the convention. Raymond Robins made the keynote speech of the session in a vigorous plea against American entry into the league of nations and participation in European quarrels.

Drastic Tax Plans Dropped.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—The Marx cabinet has dropped its drastic tax plans for a confiscatory tax on fortunes in Germany in its efforts to fill the state coffers and avoid governmental bankruptcy. The government had decided that to seek out and make a target of war fortunes and those of revolutionary periods is impractical for special taxation. Instead the government will make a complete reorganization of the entire taxation system on a gold basis. The new system will embrace 17 direct and 15 indirect taxes, with a system for collection that will not eat up all the proceeds.

RACE HORSES DISAPPEAR

Thieves Stand to Make a "Killing," Authorities Say.

New Orleans, Dec. 13.—Racehorse thieves stand to make a killing, possibly running anywhere up to a million dollars, through the latest mysterious coup in which two valuable horses have disappeared. Stanley, fast three-year-old, and Cotrompa, a filly, promising two-year-old, both stars of the string of Colonel Fred Miller, are the missing horses.

Racing authorities have been sent complete descriptions, and detectives are on the qui vive at New Orleans, Tia Juana and Havana, hoping to discover the horses before they are entered as ringers to cop big money in slower company at long odds.

Later the filly Cotrompa was found dead on the shore of Lake Ponchartrain, between here and Mobile. It was believed she was disposed of by the thieves after discovering that possible injuries would incapacitate her for racing.

PARLEY HELD WITH TREASURY HEADS

Plans for Consideration of Tax Reduction Worked Out.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Plans for consideration of the administration's tax reduction legislation in the house ways and means committee were worked out at a conference between a subcommittee and officials of the treasury department.

Participating in the conference were Chairman Green and Representatives Hawley of Oregon and Treadway of Massachusetts, Republican members of the committee, and Secretary Mellon and his expert assistants. The schedule of procedure tentatively agreed upon will be reported back to the majority members of the ways and means committee for approval, which is assured. A meeting of the full committee has been called for Monday, when the actual work of considering the administration program will be started.

Ways and means committee leaders now estimate it will take two months to complete the bill and report it out for action in the house. No extensive hearings are believed to be necessary. Secretary Mellon and his experts probably will be heard and reasonable time afforded others who demand the right to express their views. The idea of the committee is, however, that the whole proposition is one of scientific application of a general principle—tax reduction—upon which virtually every body is agreed.

Rector Must Explain.

New York, Dec. 13.—Dr. William N. Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's on the Bowery, was summoned by Bishop Manning to explain the recent services at St. Mark's, wherein bare-legged girls pictured the birth and progress of the human soul and at another presented Greek classic dances. The summons to Dr. Guthrie was made in a letter in which Dr. Manning said he was "shocked and scandalized by reports reaching him."

Naval Base Scheme Dropped.

London, Dec. 13.—One of the first results of the weakening of Premier Baldwin's majority in the house of commons is the dropping of the Singapore naval base scheme. Inasmuch as both the Liberal and Labor parties are opposed to the plan, it was announced that the proposed visit of the Earl of Cavan to Singapore to study the situation has been canceled.

CUMMINS SAVED BY DEMOCRAT

Bruce of Maryland Switches on Final Ballot.

SMITH FAILS BY ONE VOTE

Members of LaFollette Bloc Declare That the Democratic Senator From South Carolina Will Be Elected Chairman of Commerce Committee Monday When the Balloting Is Resumed—Bruce's Statement.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Senator Brookhart and others leading the LaFollette fight against Senator Cummins for the chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee, declared that the deadlock would be broken next Monday, when balloting is resumed, and that Senator Smith (Dem., S. C.) will be chosen chairman.

Smith was within one vote of the number needed to elect him. He led Cummins on all three ballots taken yesterday, and on the second was two ahead of him, with only one vote standing between him and election.

It was the vote of Senator William Cabell Bruce (Dem., Md.) which saved the Republican majority from the extraordinary situation of having a Democrat elected to the chairmanship of a Republican committee. Bruce had voted for Smith on six successive ballots, but made a sudden switch to Cummins, thereby blocking a combination formed by the LaFollette group with Smith supporters to put Smith into the chairmanship.

Bruce's action in changing from his own party to the Republican side was variously commented upon. Certain of the Democrats, who would really like Smith to get the chairmanship, were indignant over his change of vote and declared he had forsaken his party obligations just at the time when his vote was most needed. But many other Democrats, who foresee nothing but trouble for the party if a Democrat is made to accept responsibility for whatever railroad legislation this congress may enact, were glad Bruce acted as he did.

Bruce's own explanation was that he changed his vote to save the Democrats from "playing into the hands of the LaFollette-Magnus Johnson-Brookhart radical element." He declared this group was opposing Senator Cummins for no reason in the world but "because he is, perhaps, the most conspicuous representative in congress of the sounder and saner public views relating to the railroads and the vital popular interests that cluster about them."

DAMAGED BY RAIN

Fifteen Million Bushels of Corn in Ohio Unfit For Sale.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—According to the estimate of C. J. West, state-federal agricultural statistician, fall rains have made 15,000,000 bushels of Ohio corn, approximately 10 per cent of the crop, unfit for sale. "The continued rains since early in September have caused a damage to the corn crop of Ohio of at least $5,000,000," declared Mr. West. "In ordinary years from 10 to 15 per cent of the crop is not of marketable quality, but this year the amount of bad corn is at least 10 per cent greater than usual."

The crop expert figures on a basis of 150,000,000 bushels normal production. In dollars and cents at the prevailing price of around 65 cents per bushel, he finds the total loss may approach $15,000,000. "Of course, much of this damaged corn can be fed, but its feeding value is not high, so that a fair estimate would be that the farmers will lose at least half of the value of 15,000,000 bushels of corn, or about $5,000,000," he concludes.

TO PROCEED TO CHINA

American Warships to Protect Canton Customs Collections.

Manila, Dec. 13.—The United States destroyer Edwards is rushing to Mindanao to pick up Admiral Washington, commander-in-chief of the American fleet, who has been enjoying a wild pig hunt on that island. It is believed he will board the flagship Huron, which is expected to proceed to China, along with the destroyer Black Hawk. Tuesday morning six destroyers left Manila for Hongkong. These naval movements were inspired when Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the southern Chinese government, reiterated his intention of seizing the Canton customs collections.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Warns Holiday Revelers.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—Warning was served on holiday revelers by Frank S. Evans, deputy prohibition commissioner for Ohio. State agents, he said, would be busy during the Christmas season, and rigid enforcement of the liquor laws would be continued. Evans said the supply of illicit liquor was undetermined, but that, from all indications, there was as much as ever. He said he had received numerous reports that bootleggers in large numbers are preparing for the holiday trade.

Merger Favored.

Ironton, O., Dec. 13.—Stockholders of the Belmont Iron Works company, a $2,000,000 corporation, and stockholders of the Kelly Nail and Iron company, a $1,000,000 concern, authorized the directors of each company to meet and arrange terms of a merger of the two concerns. The merged interests plan to erect a big steel plant in Ironton. On Dec. 28 the stockholders meet again to ratify terms of the merger.

Postal Clerk Sentenced.

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—George H. Broughton, 58, of LaGrange, O., postal clerk, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing and abstracting a letter from the mails, and was sentenced to serve six months in the Miami county jail at Troy. Broughton was arrested and indicted on the charge of removing a letter containing $40 from the mails in December, 1922.

Passing of Sherman Cuneo.

Upper Sandusky, O., Dec. 13.—Sherman Cuneo, director of the federal prohibition information service, was found dead in his room in Washington soon after he had been asphyxiated by fumes from a gas stove. Cuneo was a close friend of the late President Harding and had written a biography of Harding's life. He was a former editor here.

Furnace Blows Up.

Zanesville, O., Dec. 13.—Dr. A. J. Van Horne narrowly escaped probable fatal injury when a heavy coal furnace in the cellar of his home, equipped for the use of gas, was blown up by a gas explosion. The cellar was wrecked and Dr. Van Horne was hurried several feet against the foundation of the home.

Auto Hit at Crossing.

Springfield, O., Dec. 13.—Albert Coleman of Springfield was killed instantly and three other persons badly injured here when their auto was struck by a Big Four freight train. The injured are: Floyd King, Joe Alexander and Miss May Fisher.

Fifty Per Cent Dividend.

Toledo, Dec. 13.—One of the largest dividends ever declared by a Toledo enterprise was announced by the board of directors of the Libbey-Owens Sheet Glass company when they declared a 50 per cent dividend on common stock, payable Jan. 10.

Slayer Must Die.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—Edward Long, Barnesville (O.) slayer, lost his appeal in state supreme court, which ordered his execution on Jan. 4. The death sentence was upheld. Long was convicted of killing Charles Conrad of Barnesville on Sept. 5, 1922, whom he shot after an argument. Long, at the time, was under the influence of liquor.

REVOLT IN FAVOR OF REBELS

Federal Troops in Frontera Garrison Kill Commander.

DECISIVE BATTLES IMMINENT

Government Troops About to Open Offensive Against Forces of General Estrada in States of Jalisco and Vera Cruz—Smashing Blows Planned by President Obregon's Loyal Mexican Soldiers.

Mexico City, Dec. 13.—The federal garrison in the city of Frontera, state of Tabasco, revolted in favor of the rebels, killing the commanding officer.

The Obregon government has issued orders disarming all students of the national military academy in this city. The step was taken because of the fact that General Ramirez Garrido, who is now chief of staff under the rebel general, Estrada, was until a few weeks ago director of the academy, and it was feared by government officials that his propaganda against President Obregon might have a tendency to turn the cadets against the government.

The first smashing blow of the government's campaign against the rebels is scheduled to begin within a few hours, when the federal offensive opens against the rebel general, Enrique Estrada, in the state of Jalisco.

Troops under the command of General Joaquin Amaro have been instructed by President Obregon to proceed against the city of Guadalajara, now held by the Estrada forces. According to war office information, the advance on Estrada will be initiated by not less than 8,000 men of various branches of the army, while the advance guard of the rebels now reach from Ocotlan to Labarca, in the state of Jalisco, where it is said that the decisive battle of the campaign will be waged.

The troops are now in readiness to leave Esperanza, the mobilization point for the federal forces in the state of Vera Cruz, to attack the forces under the rebel general, Sanchez, who is holding both the port and city of Vera Cruz.

General Angel Sanchez has notified President Obregon that he has temporarily relinquished his candidacy for president in order to again take over his duties as governor of the state of Sinaloa, promising loyalty to the government.

ANTON LANG HERE

Arrives With Other Passion Players to Sell Wares.

New York, Dec. 13.—Anton Lang, three times the Christus of the Oberammergau "Passion Play," has come to America for the first time. He is accompanied by three other principals and 20 other members of the cast to exhibit and sell the handiwork of Oberammergau people, wood carving and pottery. "It is for the starving ones of my little town that we are here," the Christus explained. "Since the war things have been pretty bad in Oberammergau," Herr Lang said. "We want to work and save the people. But we must sell our goods, you know."

Raps High Taxes.

Toledo, Dec. 13.—Abolishment of high taxes will be the principal plank in the grange program for 1924. This was the message given members of the Ohio State grange by the national master, L. J. Taber of Barnesville, O. "The farmer will not halt progress," he said, "but our congressmen and officials must come to realize that their first duty is to reduce the cost of government and increase its efficiency."

Four Youths Held.

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—Two youths, registering as William Jennings, 22, and William Ellis, who were arrested when found asleep in an automobile, confessed, the police allege, to having participated in a series of holdups by automobile bandits during the last few days. Shortly after the first arrests two other youths were arrested and confessed, according to police, that they were members of the gang.

Against Medical Diploma Mills.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Congressional action against medical "diploma mills" was started in the senate when Senator Copeland, New York, introduced a resolution of inquiry into their activities. Copeland's resolution calls for an investigation by the senate education and labor committees.

"CZAR" LANDIS ON TOP

Baseball Magnates Adopt Many of His Famous Amendments.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—"Czar" Landis of baseballdom came through the session with the two major leagues unscathed. The reported antagonism the commissioner of the national pastime would find never got a chance to materialize. Within a few minutes after the joint session opened Judge Landis' voice rose to a dramatic height. For more than an hour he addressed the representatives of the National and American leagues. He told the magnates that he had heard rumblings that he was no longer in favor. He offered to tear up his seven-year contract that calls for a salary of $50,000 a year and has four more years to run. Turning on Ben Johnson he demanded to know something regarding the authenticity of certain criticisms centering in the commissioner's refusal to permit the American league auditor to go over the accounts of the Landis office. The magnates even became apologetic after Judge Landis dropped his verbal attack. The result of the meeting was that Commissioner Landis' famous 17 amendments, with but a few exceptions, were adopted.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Newark, O., Dec. 13.—A charge of manslaughter was filed against John Leake, 27, of Zanesville, alleged to have driven the Red Star bus that struck and killed Andrew Reinhold, 65, farmer, near here. Leake said the lights of another machine blinded him and he did not see the aged man.

FOOD CREDITS SOUGHT

Millions of People in Germany Facing Starvation.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—"The feeding of the German masses depends on the granting of food credits abroad. German agriculture is unable to supply the German people throughout the year. If we are unable to obtain credits to import the food needed, millions of people will be face to face with starvation."

These statements were made by Count Kanitz, minister of agriculture and food supply. He estimated the needed grain imports at 1,500,000 tons, and added: "But what we need most is fats. Our live stock, which was never sufficient, has fallen off since the war ended almost one-third. This deficit must be imported, but the present financial situation of Germany makes this impossible except through foreign credits. The uncertainty of the food situation is adding to the unhealthy excitement of the masses."

Seeks Griffis' Release.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Secretary of State Hughes is making efforts to obtain release from prison in Germany of Hoover Griffis of Hamilton, O., sentenced last week for his attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, slacker. Hughes informed Representative Roy Fitzgerald, Ohio, that he would try to get Griffis released. Hughes is understood to have taken up the matter with the German embassy.

A Cure for Romance

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

ADELAIDE RENNIE sat fingering the letter in her hands, while her mind went back into the past. Six months before she had married Jasper Thwing, the bank president, a man 20 years her senior. It had not been a love match. There had been no pretense of that on either side. But Adelaide was thirty, and the days of youthful romance had gone forever.

Now she had received a letter from Harry, in Montana, saying that he was returning. He had not known of her marriage. That was what she was thinking of.

Her mind had traveled back over the old days when Harry and she had been sweethearts, engaged lovers. They were to have married as soon as Harry got a position and saved money. But he could never either hold a position or save, and at last he had gone West, and the engagement had been broken.

Since his departure she had come to realize how much she cared for him. He was the only man who had ever won her heart. In a way she was fond of her husband, but Harry represented that romance that every woman needs. There was no romance about Jasper Thwing. He was solid, substantial, common-sense all through.

And Harry was coming back. He was coming to tell her that he loved her. And she would have to break the news to him.

This terrible weakness that assailed her seemed something that it was impossible to struggle against. What would she do when they met? What would he have the power to make her do?

A ring at the door interrupted her meditations. She heard the maid opening it. The girl came upstairs to the room in which she was sitting.

"It's Mr. Henry Ransom," she said.

Adelaide felt her heart begin to beat feebly—feebly. She stared at the girl in terror. "Show—show him up here," she whispered.

She leaned against the mantel, waiting for him to come. She saw Harry again, with his red, curly hair, his frank, exuberant, boyish ways that had won her heart. Five years ago! What an eternity!

Then he was coming into the room, and instantly she was carried back those five years. "How do you do, Harry?" she heard herself saying. How calm she was! How firm the hand that she extended was!

"So—you're married! I heard it ten minutes ago when I inquired for you!" "Yes, I'm married."

He burst out: "I've been looking forward to the day when I could return and claim you. Sometimes I nearly went mad in the loneliness out there. Now I come back and find you are another's."

"It is unfortunate."

"Do you care for him?"

"Really, Harry—" She wanted to laugh, it was so absurd, and she wanted to cry, it was so pathetic. It was Harry, just the same, impracticable, impossible.

He took her by the hands. "This marriage is no marriage. It isn't as if you cared for him. I have the claim that my years of love have given me. I want you to come away with me."

"Where?" she heard herself whisper.

"Back West."

She felt that her only defense was in irony. "I suppose you can give me something in return for what you are asking me to give up—my husband, my home, my reputation, everything?"

"Yes, my love, love that will never end. I will worship you as no woman has ever been worshiped."

"And—what position are you taking me to?"

He released her. In that instant she knew that the spell was broken.

"Why, I—I've only got the two fares out to Montana, but I can get a dandy job out there on a ranch, and you—wouldn't mind cooking for a little while till . . ."

Then she realized how much the years had severed them. She had grown up while he remained unchanged. He would always remain unchanged.

And she found herself laughing hysterically.

"Harry, dear boy, run away," she said, "unless you want to stay to lunch and meet my husband. He'll be home presently. I'm a big girl now, and not a baby any more."

But she sighed a little as she saw him crossing the street dejectedly. Was all romance like that? It was a good thing to be cured. But it was a nice disease, in its way, too.

Watch Your Popcorn!

"Albert!" said the cautious mother at the zoo, addressing her little boy who accompanied her, "you'd better finish your popcorn before we go into the lion house; the sight of food always maddens them wild animals!"

FRIEDMAN'S
APPAREL FOR WOMEN

Poet's Lofty Position.
Among the British men of prominence probably the one who most frequently refused money was Robert Browning, the poet. During the last twenty-five years of his life editors offered large sums for a short poem from his pen. But Browning said "No." He told his friends when they pointed out the unwisdom of this course that he was determined not to thrust his poems down the throats of people; that if they wanted to read him they could buy his books.

Phonograph-Alarm Clock.
The daily torture of the toiler's aural nerve by a strident alarm clock can be avoided in several ways. He may sleep all morning, or he may buy a gentle awakener now on the market. This new alarm clock rings no bell at the rising hour; instead, it starts a phonograph! Think of the delight of being awakened by the strains of "I Don't Care if You Never Come Back," or "Everybody Wants the Key to My Cellar."—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

White Rhinoceros.
The great white rhinoceros of the upper valley of the Nile has several remarkable characteristics which mark the difference between it and its smaller cousins, the ordinary rhinoceroses of Africa, Asia and Malaysia. According to Dr. Herbert Lang of the American Museum of Natural History, who recently returned after studying it in its native haunts, its lower lip is armed with a plate of horn as a protection against the sharp swordgrass upon which it feeds. Another strange thing is that the great horns which it carries on its nose—the front one of which is about twice as long as the rear one—do not grow from the bone but from the skin. This is continuous under the base of the horn.

Five armed men held up three men carrying the payroll of the Hilton Clothing company, Newark, N. J., relieved them of bags containing $7,000 and made their escape in an automobile.

Deceiving the Men.
The fair young thing was making her first long trip alone and had been warned of bold, bad men and the many dangers that beset her path. She had to change trains and was puzzled, so she said to a young man: "Sir, what train do I take?" "Where are you going?" he inquired. She glared icily and swept on to another. One of those dreadful men. This was repeated three times. Finally she asked the ticket man, and when he asked where she was going she hesitated and then boldly said: "London."

He put her on the London train, and just as it was drawing out of the station she leaned out of the window and shouted back: "Ha, ha, I fooled you. I'm going to Birmingham."

Ninety persons were injured when train No. 62 on the Clarksburg-Richwood branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was derailed near Orlando, W. Va.

FARMER MAKES LIGHTING PLANT FROM OLD JUNK
Generator From an Old Automobile Engine Furnishes Current to Illuminate Barn.

Two dollars and an idea gave Carl Helber, a dairy farmer who lives near Ann Arbor, Mich., a splendid lighting system for his barn which costs him almost nothing to operate.

Mr. Helber has a herd of 16 Guernseys and Holsteins, and he uses a gasoline engine to run the machine which milks them. Not long ago, when the days began to get shorter and it was necessary to light the lantern during milking, he began to wonder if he couldn't illuminate his barn more efficiently. He talked it over with his helper, Richard Elgin.

The result was that Mr. Helber visited his cousin, who owns a garage at Dexter. In the junk pile he found part of an engine and six headlights minus the bulbs. For these he paid his cousin $2.

In the Helber barn the two men inverted the crank-case and generator that had been salvaged from the junk pile and installed them above the gasoline engine used to run the milking machine. The engine below was connected with the generator by a belt in such a way that the milking machine and generator could be operated simultaneously. The six headlights were equipped with bulbs and fastened in strategic positions about the barn. Two wires were arranged leading from the generator, one to carry the current to the lights and the other to connect with the ground.

While the cows are being milked the barn is brilliantly lighted at no additional cost. At other times when light is desired the gas engine may be started in a moment, and the cost is not great.

TO ATTEMPT THE FIRST TRANSARCTIC FLIGHT

Mr. Hakon H. Hammer, president of the Universal Trading and Shipping company of Seattle, who is associated with Capt. Roald Amundsen, the famous explorer who discovered the South pole and was the first man to negotiate the passage of the fabulous Northwest passage, completing the circumnavigation of the Arctic circle. The new expedition which Mr. Hammer and Captain Amundsen will head in three metal planes from Spitzbergen, Norway, next summer will bisect the Arctic circle, and pass above the North pole, a feat never before even attempted, and land at Point Barrow, Alaska. Valuable photographs of hitherto unexplored terrain will be made, and the two explorers will decide for all time whether or not there exists a new continent in the frozen North.

The photograph shows Mr. Hammer in New York, where he and Captain Amundson arrived from Wainwright, Alaska, en route to Norway, where they will establish a chain of depots similar to the one which they have just arranged in Alaska.

KEEPS 65 DOGS IN HIS FLAT

New Yorker Threatened With Jail Unless He Disposes of Them.

Unless Joseph Oller, forty years old, of 8 Willett street, New York, gets rid of 64 of his 65 dogs in his apartment he will have to go to jail.

Fifteen tenants of the six-story tenement house at the Willett street address in Essex Market court recently complained of the dogs.

Mrs. Beulah Rubenfeld, who lives on the floor above Oller and who obtained a summons calling Oller's appearance in court on a charge of disorderly conduct, said her eight-year-old son, Joseph was taking singing lessons, but could make no progress as long as Oller's dogs were in the house.

"Every time the boy begins to sing the dogs join in the chorus," the mother complained.

Oller promised Magistrate Joseph Rasino to get rid of his pets.

Cheaper to Slap Wife.

OLDTIME DOLLS

Display Case at Public Library of Much Interest to Little Folks.

The Circleville Public Library has a display case filled with things to interest the tiny tots—the favorite old fairy tales, nursery rhymes and modern stories in attractive picture books. These are the stories that delight the smallest children when read or told to them. The attractiveness of the exhibit is added to by illustrative toys loaned by Hamilton's, Wilder's Cash Store and Closson's. The exhibit case has been loaned to the library by Crist & Mason.

It is planned for next week to have an exhibit of old-time toys and trinkets that made Christmas for the children of long ago. If you have any, please telephone the library. Two doll cradles, one sixty and the other over a hundred years old, have been promised. Old-time dolls are especially wanted. What have you among your treasures?

The purpose is to stretch the existing employment opportunities among as many families as possible.

SCHOOL ANNUAL

Sale Contest is On—Next Book Will be of Special Interest.

A High School Annual selling campaign is now in progress in Circleville. The campaign is being carried on in the form of a contest between junior and senior classes. The class that sells the most annuals before Wednesday, December 19, will be allowed to have their flag on the school for two days. As would be expected much class spirit is being created and both sides are working hard to win the honors.

The reduction of the price makes it possible for more people to buy and naturally we expect a larger circulation this year than ever has been before. The size of the annual has been increased and every possible effort is being put forth to increase the quality of it. The 1924 annual will be of special interest to the alumni. The name, address and occupation of every person who has been graduated from the Circleville high school in the last ten years will be included in this volume. An annual is a reminder of the days gone by. It is a book that should be cherished by every true friend of the high school.

Remember that the sale of the Annuals is not limited to the high school pupils so be prepared to give your subscription to one of the salesman that will call on you before next Wednesday. 13decdf3.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"Hot cat!" exclaimed the Hotel Stenographer. "At last one crow has come home to roost. Finally one woman's sins have found her out. At last a retribution has met iniquity face to face."

"Tell me about it," encouraged the House Detective.

"Coming downtown on the car this morning," laughed the Hotel Stenographer, "I got on far up the line where I live, and had a seat. I opened up my morning paper and was looking over the scandal section when a woman got on who grasped her umbrella in a way which showed she got what she went after."

"She stood in front of me and glared as tho I ought to give her my seat. Of course I gave her the Ritz stare, and read on, but about three blocks later an old gentleman was assisted aboard by the conductor and I hopped to my feet to give grandpa a seat. Before I could help him into it this dame slipped in behind me and sat down. I told her I was giving the seat to the old gentleman, but she said it was ladies first and she was a lady. I explained to her that her actions threw considerable doubt about it. Just then a man got up and gave the old man a seat and I had either to take this hen by the neck or stand up, so I stood."

"That's the dame who went out of here so fast. She came downtown to try to get a job as matron of an orphan's home that my sodality is raising the money to keep going. I am the chairman of the committee and she came to me for the job. O, baby, didn't I tell her a few? I'll tell the world I did."

"Kelly, it certainly is a shame that retribution cannot step on the heels of iniquity always and without us waiting for the slow-poke Nemesis to get in his work."

"You said it, you said it," agreed the House Detective.

No Law Schools in England.

England today has no law school in existence. Harvard's Law school is not only the oldest existing law school in the United States, but it is the oldest existing academic law school in the English-speaking world. They have a professor of law at Cambridge, and a professor of law at Oxford, in England, but they do not teach law in the manner of a professional school. They simply lecture upon law, or endeavor to give a scientific preparation for the profession of law, but do not give a scientific, professional training.

Reflection.

All the world used her ill, said this young person, and we may be pretty certain that persons whom all the world treats ill deserve the treatment they get. The world is a looking glass and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look sourly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion; and so let all young persons take their choice.—Thackeray.

To Duplicate Baby.

Shakespeare's Greenwood.

Less than three hours' travel from dirty, busy London is the forest of Arden, which is hallowed in the minds of all who speak English by the fact that Shakespeare found in it the inspiration for his woodland scenes, and especially for the fantastically beautiful ones of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The great oaks under which his fairies danced still stretch out their branches over the shadow-dappled sward.

Mauritius Rich in Ferns.

The island of Mauritius, less than one-third the area of Delaware, has 235 native species of ferns. Java, a little larger than New York, has 460, while Brazil contains 387. All Europe furnishes but 67 species, the arctic zone 26; North America, north of Mexico, has about 175 species.

AMUSEMENTS

That Agnes Ayres is one of the most popular stars of the screen is amply evidenced by the great success of her new Paramount picture, "The Heart alder" which will be the feature at the Met theater Thursday and Friday with Mahlon Hamilton as leading man.

The story is one of absorbing interest and there is much relishable comedy. At Palm Beach, Muriel Gray played by Miss Ayres, is making an effort to create a favorable impression on John Dennis, a bachelor, portrayed by Mahlon Hamilton. But the latter believes that Muriel is rather frivolous and his indifference wounds Muriel deeply. She is determined, however, to force Dennis to take her in his arms and makes this her boast. Muriel at first is a miserable failure as a vamp but finally makes good her boast.

There is an excellent supporting cast which includes Charles Ruggles, Frazer Coulter, Marie Burke and Charles Riegel. Wesley Ruggles directed the picture, the scenario for which was written by Jack Cunningham, who made the adaptation of the Emerson Hough novel, "The Covered Wagon." Charles Schoenbaum was the photographer.

FARM FLOCK OF CHICKENS

Harry Hische Gives Interesting Account of His Work in Georgia.

Day Old Chicks Were Shipped From Southern Ohio Hatchery and Splendid Results Were Obtained—Sold Over $2000 of Eggs.

"During the first week of May, 1922 we received 1000 day old chix from the Southern Ohio Hatchery of Circleville. These chix reached Ringgold, Georgia, in good condition and we were more than pleased with them. The shipping loss was practically nothing and if I remember correctly there were 1002 chicks when we opened the boxes.

"These chix were placed under four brooders and given their first feed which consisted of bran, a charcoal sprinkled on sand with buttermilk to drink. During the first few days they were fed very sparingly—not much at one time but every two hours from 7 a. m. until 5 p. m., with the idea of keeping them hungry and active. Their feed was bran, chix grains with buttermilk before them all the time. The bran was fed in shallow pans and the chix grains on newspapers. After the chix were one week old they were given green feed daily and had placed before them at 8 a. m., 12 and 3 p. m. as much as they could clean up in about twenty minutes. Scratch feed was fed at 6 a. m., 10:30 a. m., and 4:30 p. m.

"The mash we used for the first two weeks was mixed as follows; 12 pounds bran, 5 pounds shorts or middlings, 5 pounds corn meal 1½ pounds meat scraps ½ pound bone meal. We purchased chix grains for the first month. We kept buttermilk before them all the time for the first month, starting the third week we fed scratch grains three times a day, 6 a. m., 12 and 4:30 p. m. Mash hoppers were filled at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m. with enough mash to last about two hours at each filling. The mash we used from the third week until the 20th week was mixed as follows; 9 pounds bran, 6 pounds middlings, 1 pound, bone meal, 6 pounds corn meal, two pounds meat scrap. Buttermilk was fed twice daily. Charcoal, shell and grit was before them at all times. We fed the same from the third to the 20th week.

"When the chix were eight weeks old we separated the cockerels from the pullets putting them in a fattening pen where they were finished off and sold in Chattanooga as broilers. With the exception of a few culls all our cockerels were sold by the time they were eleven weeks old.

"Our chix were brooded in a shed roof laying house 80 feet long by 20 feet wide with temporary partitions put in to keep the chix in four pens. After they were one month old the partitions were taken down and they were given the run of the house.

"The pullets were not pushed into development as we wanted them to be in good condition with large frames by October first. From October first until the tenth no mash was fed but they were given all the scratch feed they would consume to put fat on their large frames.

"These pullets could have been brought into laying at four and one-half months but we held them back until they were five and one-half months old. However, a few eggs were laid during the first week in October. About the middle of October we penned the pullets in the laying house put on lights and started to push them for egg production.

"Our method of feeding these pullets was to keep mash before them at all times, feed plenty of scratch feed green feed and one feed of moist mash a day.

"Our production from the 401 pullets in November was 16.3 eggs per bird, in December 17.55 eggs per bird. Our flock averaged 76.62 eggs per bird for the months of November, December, January, February and March. Our flock averaged for the year 179.83 per bird.

"Our eggs at first were sold locally, but we soon found that New York was the place to sell white eggs and thru the kindness of Messrs. Jacoby and Young of the Southern Ohio Hatchery we were put in touch with the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers association of New York City. Their returns and the treatment we received was so satisfactory that we joined this association a thing we never had regretted. We sold over $2000 worth of eggs from our small flock.

"We were so well satisfied with the chix purchase from the Southern Ohio Hatchery in 1922 that we ordered 2500 to be shipped in April, 1923. From this number we now have 1000 good pullets that laid 3806 eggs during the third week in November or an average lay of about 55 per cent.

Held Whiskers Sacred.

If the beard has any standing in the world today, it is undoubtedly because of the Jews, who held their whiskers to be sacred, and swore by them. Later, the Turks did the same. The sultan's followers used to comb their whiskers after prayers, catch the hairs that came out, break them in two and bury them, on the theory that in some mysterious way the hairs helped to make soft walking to the gates of paradise. This the Turks firmly believed.

Right and Wrong Argument.

Argument is good when it seeks to bring out facts. When it seeks the tawdry glory of temporary mastery, it is a wind from the desert, neither bearing rain, nor soothing the traveler.—Exchange.

JAMAICA ISLE OF PHANTOM SHIPS

Buccaneers Planned Raids in Port Royal, Which Was Wickedest Spot on Earth.

Washington.—"The island of Jamaica in the West Indies which, according to newspapers, is having its tariff disputes with the mother country over the duties imposed on its articles of export, was in the latter half of the Seventeenth century the stronghold of the English buccaneers," says a bulletin based on a communication by Neil Ray Clarke to the National Geographic society.

"Morgan, the greatest and most sagacious of the pirates, planned most of his expeditions in Port Royal, which had the reputation of being the richest and wickedest spot on the earth. And proud the city was of the notoriety. Defiant, flamboyant, and unabashed, it greeted the chiefs who lent riotous color to its life, emptied gold into its coffers, and tinged its nights with drunkenness and revelry.

Tumbled Rendezvous Into Sea. "In those days Port Royal had a high wall about it and wide quays, whereon its habitues emptied their pieces-of-eight. Then, as if providence were outraged by its utter disregard of moral laws, an earthquake on June 7, 1692, shook Jamaica to its foundations and tumbled this den of iniquity, with scores of the pirates, into the sea. When the water is calm the coral-encrusted ruins of the old town may be seen beneath the water, even today, and the natives still regale the visitor with stories of phantom ships that are trying to make the port.

"One interesting relic remains, however, in Fort Charles, a still old veteran of sun-faded bricks. Some of the officers' quarters and a paved court, so white that it dazzles, are still standing. Flower gardens now encircle its walls; its gun embrasures are hidden by bushes; the birds haunt its crannies, and the lizards crawl lazily over its parapets. Horatio Nelson was stationed at the forts in 1779, when he was twenty-one years of age, and the paved platform which was known affectionately as his 'quarter-deck' may still be seen.

Town Is Disconsolate. "The town now standing on the old site is respectable, faded and disconsolate. On the fences and bushes, in melancholy ugliness, the commonplace inhabitants dry the fishing nets by means of which they eke out their existence.

"The pirates, with the two bases, Tortuga and Port Royal, for operations, took toll of all the islands and lands along the Caribbean.

"Across the magnificent harbor from Port Royal lies Kingston, the capital of Jamaica and one of the most important ports in the West Indies. Its foundations were laid by Port Royal survivors.

"Though only 2 per cent of Kingston's 50,000 people are white, no small body of citizens of any city has shown more courage, energy and determination during the hurricanes and earthquakes which have time and again literally destroyed its very foundations. Hardly had its charred ruins cooled after the violent earthquake and fire in 1907 before the survivors were busy building, between the palm-fringed shore and the blue hills beyond, a clean, regularly laid-out town to take the place of the one which Nature had just destroyed."

Bride, Forced to Sleep Alone, Obtains Divorce

Lynn, Mass.—Judge Alden P. White of the Salem Probate court recently granted a divorce to Mrs. Frank L. Struthers, from her husband, a wealthy broker, because the latter's mother refused to allow her son to sleep with his bride on their honeymoon. The night she was married the plaintiff testified her mother-in-law stopped them on their way to bed. "Frank has always slept on this floor near me since he was a child," she cried, "and he mustn't sleep near you."

During the eighteen days she remained at the Struthers home, the bride testified, she passed a honeymoon alone in a dismal attic room.

Purloin U. S. Letters Carrying Dollar Bills

Bucharest.—Complaints of the handling of foreign mail, particularly that coming from the United States, have resulted in action being taken by the International Postal union. Unless there is improvement, the union says, Rumania may have to withdraw.

One cause of trouble has been the habit of Americans, when writing to friends in Rumania, of enclosing currency. Mail sorters know this, and many an American letter has been purloined.

Stump Blighted for Years Bears Chestnuts

Newton, N. J.—L. T. Brown, head of the Farm bureau of Sussex county, announced that he will investigate a report that a chestnut tree, apparently destroyed by the blight which swept the state more than twenty years ago, has come to life again. A tree on the grounds of the home of Dr. Carroll P. Maher, at 41 Woodside avenue, Newton, which was reduced to stump after the blight, this year bore several clusters of chestnuts from new saplings which grew from the stump.

BLOW WIPES OUT FIVE YEARS OF "VET'S" LIFE

Prohibition Agent Finds He Has Two Wives After Accident.

St. Cloud, Minn.—The blow on the head that knocked Arthur E. Whitney, federal prohibition agent of Minneapolis, under the wheels of a beer truck at New Munich, Minn., recently, fracturing his skull, also turned the pages of his life back five years, it was revealed here.

Whitney was overseas 27 months during the World war, was gassed three times and a victim of aphasia. His life after the last gas attack was a blank.

After the war he landed in New York and obtained a job as a federal prohibition agent. There he met a young woman known as Mrs. Ann Whitney, who has lived in St. Paul with him for the last two years.

When Whitney, at a local hospital, regained consciousness for the first time since the blow, standing beside the bed was Mrs. Luella Whitney, who married him in Grafton, N. D., in 1912, and who bore him two sons.

He said he knew nothing of Ann Whitney, nothing of the baby soon to arrive, nothing of the almost complete divorce proceedings between himself and Luella and nothing of how he was hurt.

Whitney had a faint idea that he had been a government dry agent, however. He asked his wife how the boys were and apparently did not realize the passage of time.

Physicians say Whitney will recover.

Mannequins Desert

Paris Dressmakers

Paris.—The threatened passing of the mannequin has become one of the tragedies of Paris.

The gorgeous creatures who trail majestically across the dressmaker's showroom and demonstrate to madame how wonderful she thinks she is going to look in that high-priced gown are becoming alarmingly scarce. The shortage is so great that the directors of several of the leading fashion houses in Paris have decided to start a school to provide recruits for their sorely depleted ranks.

The reason for the mannequin's disappearance?

"South Americans come to Paris and marry them. North Americans come to Paris and put them in the movies. Scandinavians come to Paris and go crazy about them. No wonder we haven't any mannequins," explained one of the dressmakers.

"And what's the answer?" echoes one of the few mannequins still in the game. "It's very simple. To be a good mannequin, you cannot be more than twenty or weigh more than 115 pounds. You must not be too short nor too tall.

"Also, we live an unreal life. We spend our days in an atmosphere of elegance and luxury. We get accustomed to that, and our wages are not enough to live up to it. Therefore, we stay in the business just long enough to get out of it."

Father Gives Up Son

So He Can Get $1,000,000

Boston.—Through the resignation of Bruce S. Evans, Jr., as guardian of his nine-year-old son, the boy may eventually come into possession of an estate of more than $1,000,000 left by his maternal grandfather, William H. A. Fraser of Ottawa, Ontario. Judge Dolan of the Probate court appointed the Old Colony Trust company of this city as guardian.

Mrs. Evans, the daughter of Fraser, died shortly after the birth of the boy, who lived with his grandparents in Ottawa until their deaths, and has since lived with his aunt, Mrs. Charlotte E. Armstrong. Mrs. Armstrong, the chief beneficiary under the wills of Fraser and his wife, is understood to have made provision for the fortune to go to the boy after her death.

A trust fund of $150,000, founded for the boy in Fraser's will, was conditional upon his remaining under the care and control of some member of the Fraser family and if the father had control the trust was to become void. Evans is an insurance broker in this city.

Baby Cries When Father Kills Large Blacksnake

Kane, Pa.—With a two-foot blacksnake in one hand and a spoon in the other, fourteen-month-old William Miller of this city was having a gay time—until his father heard the noise.

Then father killed the snake, while the baby screamed in protest. It was half an hour before the baby's sobbing stopped.

House Will Be

Built of Sawdust

Hoquiam, Wash.—The first house in the world to be built entirely of sawdust goes to Hoquiam.

A mill near there has a process by which sawdust is molded into all kinds of building materials, including planks, beams, boards, lath and shingles.

The material is waterproof, sound-proof, grained like natural wood, and can be stained or painted.

SAT ON THRONE 400 YEARS

When Charlemagne Died Body Was Clothed in Robes and Placed on Chair of State.

If you ever visit Aix-la-Chapelle the guide will show you a marble throne on which the Emperor Charlemagne, or Charles the Great, sat for nearly 400 years. This is how he did it.

When Charlemagne died in the year 814, they clothed his body in the imperial robes and placed it in a sitting position on his throne. On his head they put his crown, in his hand his scepter, and in his lap an open copy of the Bible.

Two centuries later the vault was opened and the body found to be well preserved. The vault was shut up for 200 years, when it was again opened and the body removed and placed in a gold and silver coffin, where it still remains in the cathedral. For 300 years afterward the marble throne on which Charlemagne sat for 400 years was used in the coronation ceremonies of the German emperors.

When They're Regular.

In the smoking car the conversation turned on the merits and demerits of various ways of preserving health. One stout, florid man held forth with great eloquence.

"Look at me!" he shouted. "Never a day's sickness in my life, and all due to simple food. Why, gentlemen," he continued, "from the age of twenty to that of forty I lived an absolutely regular life—no effeminate delicacies, no late hours, no extravagances. Every day, summer and winter, I was in bed regularly at nine o'clock and up again at five in the morning. I worked from eight to one, then had dinner—a plain dinner, mark my words; after that an hour's exercise; then—"

"Excuse me, sir," interrupted the facetious stranger in the corner, "but what were you in for?"—Houston Post.

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 16

WORLD-WIDE MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:9-15; 28:30, 31; Rom. 15:18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."—Rom. 1:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Preaching by a Riverside.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Crosses the Sea.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul's Ambition.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Aim and Methods.

The Gospel having broken the confines of the Jewish city and country, the middle wall of partition being abolished, the time came for it to leap across the Aegean sea and begin its conquest of another continent. Christianity thus ceased to be an oriental religion and through the centuries has been mainly occidental.

I. Call to Macedonia (Acts 16:9-11). 1. The Vision (v. 9). Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. This made plain to him the closed doors about him. The Spirit as definitely leads in the closing of some doors as in the opening of others. In finding the divine will we should look both ways. Before there can be any great forward movement there must be a vision. The great achievements of men are the products of visions.

2. The Advance (vv. 10, 11). As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward therein. Visions must be quickly translated into aggressive actions or else they are blotted from our skies. They neither questioned the wisdom of God nor delayed action. This is characteristic of all of God's true servants. With a straight course Paul moved out of his own country to the strategic center of a new continent.

II. The First Convert in Europe (Acts 16:12-15).

The missionaries first went to Philippi and spent several days in studying conditions there. The Jewish element in this city was comparatively insignificant, so much so that they could not have a synagogue. Therefore, the devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women assembled there. A certain woman from Thyatira, a proselyte, believed his message and was baptized. The work of the Lord thus had a very humble beginning, but it was destined to transform all Europe and the world. The steps in Lydia's conversion are worthy of note for they are typical.

1. Attendance at the Place of Worship (v. 13). Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer. Lydia was seeking the heavenly light. God sends many an inquirer to the prayer meeting.

2. Listening to the Preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14). It is highly important that at every prayer meeting the Word of God shall be spoken, so that the inquirer after God may find the light.

3. Her Heart Was Opened by the Lord (v. 14). Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. No one is ever converted against his will.

4. She Was Baptized (v. 15). Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her Household Believed Also (v. 15). This was as it should be. Real conversion cannot be concealed.

6. Practiced Hospitality (v. 15). Those who have experienced God's saving grace are at once disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

III. Paul Preaching in Rome (Acts 28:30, 31).

Paul continued his labors in widening his testimony to the world amongst thrilling experiences. In spite of beatings, shipwrecks and imprisonments, we find him near the close of his life in the imperial capitol city. Though a prisoner he continues to preach the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. In the providence of God, he had liberty to preach the Gospel to all who came to him.

IV. Paul's Aim in Preaching the Gospel Was World-Wide (Rom. 15:16-21).

His heart's transcendent desire was to so preach the Gospel that the Gentiles might become obedient to the faith. In order that this might be accomplished he pushed out into unexplored regions, so that the light of the Gospel might shine into the darkness of the heathen world. May we follow his example, for there is much work to be done.

Prayer.

Bring your plans, your purposes to God's throne. Test them by praying about them. Do nothing large or new—nothing small nor old, either—for that matter—till you have asked there. In the silence of the secret place, "Lord, what wouldst Thou have me to do?"—Alexander MacLaren.

Worry Is Not Faith.

Worry is not faith. It is doubting God, who has promised to supply all our need in Christ Jesus.—Record of Christian Work.

White Pearls Most Valuable.

Pearls that come from the coast of Australia are of many shapes and colors. Those under ten grains are sold by the ounce; above that by the grain. Color has a deal to do with the value. The white pearls go mostly to Europe and the yellow ones to India. In Australia an ounce of good white pearls will fetch up to $500, but sometimes realize only a fifth of that amount. The yellow pearls may be rated on an average of about half the value of the white ones.

Foibles of Genius.

Buffon wrote in lace ruffles and Sir Walter Scott liked to array himself in his shooting jacket from six o'clock until dinner time, whilst Guido Reno painted with much pomp and considered himself at his best when dressed magnificently, and had his pupils attend him in silence, ranged around him.

Writes to Beethoven.

A letter addressed to the composer Beethoven was received in Vienna the other day from a woman in the provinces. She wrote she had recently heard some of his music and was anxious to place her daughter under his tuition. The postal authorities delivered the letter at the house in which Beethoven lived and where he died 92 years ago. The concierge said no such man resided there, so the postman sent it to the dead letter office.

Bug Holdup.

A bug may hold up a locomotive. It takes a large number to do the trick, but it has been done. Specialists in the train holdup line in bugdon are the army worm, the tent caterpillar, the cotton worm and migratory locusts. Huge water beetles traveling in force have been known to accomplish the same feat. When these insects swarm upon the track they so effectually grease the rails that no wheel can be kept turning.—Boston Post.

Kisses Were Sacred.

Among old laws against kissing those of Iceland appear to have been the most severe. Banishment was the penalty laid down for kissing another man's wife, either with or without her consent, and the same punishment was enforced for kissing an unmarried woman against her will.

Canine Characteristic.

Once in a while you meet a man who is like a dog. He would rather stand still and shiver than to get out and hustle and keep warm.—Cincinnati Enquirer

DAMAGE CASE

Against Scioto Valley Traction Company
Taken From Jury

The suit of Delno C. and Rea Klingensmith against the Scioto Valley Traction company in which they asked damages in the sum of $35,000 against the defendants for the death of their son who was electrocuted by the high tension wires of the defendants was suddenly terminated Wednesday afternoon. Judge Curtin took the case from the jury, to which ruling the attorneys for plaintiff took exceptions. The case will now be prosecuted to the court of appeals.

Barton Walters and Meeker Terwilliger represented the plaintiff and Judge Oscar Newman, of Columbus and Charles Gerhardt, the defendants.

CAPTURE OF BOY BANDITS

Assailants of Albert Palm and Pat Brannan Are 17 and 19 Years Old.

Apprehended at Homes Near Valley Crossing and Brought Here—Arrests Made by Sheriff Young and Chief of Police Myers.

Thirty-six hours intervened between the commission of the crime of robbery here Monday night and the capture of the alleged bandits who held up Albert Palm. Three young men were placed under arrest Wednesday afternoon at their homes near Valley Crossing, nine miles south of Columbus by Sheriff Robert J. Young and Chief of Police John Myers.

The prisoners brought here are Lester James, aged 19, son of George D. James, a grocer, and Owen Roshon, aged 19, and Gloyd Roshon aged 17, sons of A. A. Roshon, truck gardener.

The young men refused at first to admit anything, but Lester James, who seems to be the leader, admitted later to Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger that they were in this city about 11 o'clock and played a game of pool in Picken's restaurant.

When the Palm cafe was held up, he said only he and Owen participated. The story of how the sheriff and chief of police got their first tip and how they ran down the boys is interesting. The tip was given Tuesday morning when a Chevrolet car was found stalled in the mud three miles east of Tarlton. H. E. Stroupe of Tarlton passed the car and took the serial number and reported the fact. Two young colored men from Chillicothe, who had taken the wrong road to Columbus, turning from the Kingston pike into the old Tarlton road got into the mud and had to be pulled out. They secured a Mr. Fetherolf to pull their car out and went back to Tarlton. On their way in they picked up two boys whose car had also become ditched. G. T. Lanman, a garage man took these boys into Lancaster. They left their car in charge of Gloyd Roshon.

At Lancaster they bought tickets over the Scioto Valley Traction for Ellis station. When they reached home, the boys secured Lester James' car, went to Tarlton and pulled the machine that was out of commission back home. When the officers reached their home Wednesday they found the car with the rope still attached.

Taking the serial number of the car as a clue, the officers went to the Chevrolet agency and by running down the number, they found that the car had been sold to the Roshon's and then it was an easy matter to locate their people.

To Represent America in the Reparations Inquiry.

SCHIFF A PROBABLE CHOICE

Morrow and Dawes, Associated With the House of Morgan, and Reynolds of Chicago Also Mentioned—Congress to Seek Information on the Plan For American Participation In Inquiry.

Washington, Dec. 13.—A demand from the senate for information on the Coolidge-Hughes plan for American participation in the reparations controversy is in prospect.

One proposal under discussion was that a request be made of Secretary of State Hughes for exact information as to what part the United States had taken in negotiations looking toward an inquiry into German finances. Another suggestion was that a resolution calling for such information be introduced on the floor of the senate.

Meanwhile from the white house and the state department plans were pushed toward the conclusion of the understanding for American membership on the two committees to be set up under the auspices of the reparations commission.

Although official emphasis was placed on the point that the invitations to membership would be issued from the commission, it was quite obvious that, in fact, the president and Mr. Hughes would select the American delegates. The men selected, it is certain, will have the endorsement of international banking interests vitally concerned in European financial difficulties.

Mortimer L. Schiff, international banker of New York, was summoned to the white house by the president for a conference on the latest development in the reparations problem. He was closeted with the president for more than an hour. Mr. Schiff has intimate knowledge of German finances. His family, next to the Rothschilds, holds a high place in the German financial world.

Another New Yorker banker mentioned as a probable choice for American member of the committees is Dwight P. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Company. Mr. Morrow was a classmate of the president in college.

Charles G. Dawes, Chicago, intimately associated with the house of Morgan, is most prominently mentioned as the middle western candidate. George M. Reynolds, Chicago banker, also has been urged as the middle western representative. The third American to serve on the committees, it is expected, will be chosen from the district west of the Mississippi river, probably from the Pacific coast.

NEGRO LEADERS WIN

Representation in South and North Increased by Committee.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The Republican national committee, backed by administration leaders, restored representation in the 1924 national convention from the "black belt" virtually to the same as in 1920.

The demand of negro leaders, headed by Henry Lincoln Johnson, negro national committeeman from Georgia, that the negro Republicans of the south not be "disfranchised" was acceded to. At the same time the committee practically nullified the effect of this increase by adding one delegate to each state that cast its electoral vote for the Republican ticket in 1920. The total convention vote of 1,036, fixed by a subcommittee under the reapportionment authorized by the 1920 convention, was increased to 1,110.

The committee selected Cleveland as the place and June 10 the date for the convention. Raymond Robins made the keynote speech of the session in a vigorous plea against American entry into the league of nations and participation in European quarrels.

Drastic Tax Plans Dropped.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—The Marx cabinet has dropped its drastic tax plans for a confiscatory tax on fortunes in Germany in its efforts to fill the state coffers and avoid governmental bankruptcy. The government had decided that to seek out and make a target of war fortunes and those of revolutionary periods is impractical for special taxation. Instead the government will make a complete reorganization of the entire taxation system on a gold basis. The new system will embrace 17 direct and 15 indirect taxes, with a system for collection that will not eat up all the proceeds.

RACE HORSES DISAPPEAR

Thieves Stand to Make a "Killing," Authorities Say.

New Orleans, Dec. 13.—Racehorse thieves stand to make a killing, possibly running anywhere up to a million dollars, through the latest mystery coup in which two valuable horses have disappeared. Stanley, fast three-year-old, and Cotrompa, a filly, promising two-year-old, both stars of the string of Colonel Fred Miller, are the missing horses.

Racing authorities have been sent complete descriptions, and detectives are on the qui vive at New Orleans, Tia Juana and Havana, hoping to discover the horses before they are entered as ringers to cop big money in slower company at long odds.

Later the filly Cotrompa was found dead on the shore of Lake Pontchartrain, between here and Mobile. It was believed she was disposed of by the thieves after discovering that possible injuries would incapacitate her for racing.

PARLEY HELD WITH TREASURY HEADS

Plans for Consideration of Tax Reduction Worked Out.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Plans for consideration of the administration's tax reduction legislation in the house ways and means committee were worked out at a conference between a subcommittee and officials of the treasury department.

Participating in the conference were Chairman Green and Representatives Hawley of Oregon and Treadway of Massachusetts, Republican members of the committee, and Secretary Mellon and his expert assistants. The schedule of procedure tentatively agreed upon will be reported back to the majority members of the ways and means committee for approval, which is assured. A meeting of the full committee has been called for Monday, when the actual work of considering the administration program will be started.

Ways and means committee leaders now estimate it will take two months to complete the bill and report it out for action in the house. No extensive hearings are believed to be necessary. Secretary Mellon and his experts probably will be heard and reasonable time afforded others who demand the right to express their views. The idea of the committee is, however, that the whole proposition is one of scientific application of a general principle—tax reduction—upon which virtually everybody is agreed.

Rector Must Explain.

New York, Dec. 13.—Dr. William N. Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's on the Bowery, was summoned by Bishop Manning to explain the recent services at St. Mark's, wherein bare-legged girls pictured the birth and progress of the human soul and at another presented Greek classic dances. The summons to Dr. Guthrie was made in a letter in which Dr. Manning said he was "shocked and scandalized by reports reaching him."

Naval Base Scheme Dropped.

London, Dec. 13.—One of the first results of the weakening of Premier Baldwin's majority in the house of commons is the dropping of the Singapore naval base scheme. Inasmuch as both the Liberal and Labor parties are opposed to the plan, it was announced that the proposed visit of the Earl of Cavan to Singapore to study the situation has been canceled.

CUMMINS SAVED BY DEMOCRAT

Bruce of Maryland Switches on Final Ballot.

SMITH FAILS BY ONE VOTE

Members of LaFollette Bloc Declare That the Democratic Senator From South Carolina Will Be Elected Chairman of Commerce Committee Monday When the Balloting Is Resumed—Bruce's Statement.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Senator Brookhart and others leading the LaFollette fight against Senator Cummins for the chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee, declared that the deadlock would be broken next Monday, when balloting is resumed, and that Senator Smith (Dem., S. C.) will be chosen chairman.

Smith was within one vote of the number needed to elect him. He led Cummins on all three ballots taken yesterday, and on the second was two ahead of him, with only one vote standing between him and election.

It was the vote of Senator William Cabell Bruce (Dem., Md.) which saved the Republican majority from the extraordinary situation of having a Democrat elected to the chairmanship of a Republican committee. Bruce had voted for Smith on six successive ballots, but made a sudden switch to Cummins, thereby blocking a combination formed by the LaFollette group with Smith supporters to put Smith into the chairmanship.

Bruce's action in changing from his own party to the Republican side was variously commented upon. Certain of the Democrats, who would really like Smith to get the chairmanship, were indignant over his change of vote and declared he had forsaken his party obligations just at the time when his vote was most needed. But many other Democrats, who foresee nothing but trouble for the party if a Democrat is made to accept responsibility for whatever railroad legislation this congress may enact, were glad Bruce acted as he did.

Bruce's own explanation was that he changed his vote to save the Democrats from "playing into the hands of the LaFollette-Magnus Johnson-Brookhart radical element." He declared this group was opposing Senator Cummins for no reason in the world but "because he is, perhaps, the most conspicuous representative in congress of the sounder and saner public views relating to the railroads and the vital popular interests that cluster about them."

DAMAGED BY RAIN

Fifteen Million Bushels of Corn in Ohio Unfit For Sale.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—According to the estimate of C. J. West, state-federal agricultural statistician, fall rains have made 15,000,000 bushels of Ohio corn, approximately 10 per cent of the crop, unfit for sale. "The continued rains since early in September have caused a damage to the corn crop of Ohio of at least $5,000,000," declared Mr. West. "In ordinary years from 10 to 15 per cent of the crop is not of marketable quality, but this year the amount of bad corn is at least 10 per cent greater than usual."

The crop expert figures on a basis of 150,000,000 bushels normal production. In dollars and cents at the prevailing price of around 65 cents per bushel, he finds the total loss may approach $15,000,000. "Of course, much of this damaged corn can be fed, but its feeding value is not high, so that a fair estimate would be that the farmers will lose at least half of the value of 15,000,000 bushels of corn, or about $5,000,000," he concludes.

TO PROCEED TO CHINA

American Warships to Protect Canton Customs Collections.

Manila, Dec. 13.—The United States destroyer Edwards is rushing to Mindanao to pick up Admiral Washington, commander-in-chief of the American fleet, who has been enjoying a wild pig hunt on that island. It is believed he will board the flagship Huron, which is expected to proceed to China, along with the destroyer Black Hawk. Tuesday morning six destroyers left Manila for Hongkong. These naval movements were inspired when Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the southern Chinese government, reiterated his intention of seizing the Canton customs collections.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Warns Holiday Revelers.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—Warning was served on holiday revelers by Frank S. Evans, deputy prohibition commissioner for Ohio. State agents, he said, would be busy during the Christmas season, and rigid enforcement of the liquor laws would be continued. Evans said the supply of illicit liquor was undetermined, but that, from all indications, there was as much as ever. He said he had received numerous reports that bootleggers in large numbers are preparing for the holiday trade.

The merged interests plan to erect a big steel plant in Ironton. On Dec. 28 the stockholders meet again to ratify terms of the merger.

Broughton, 58, of LaGrange, O., postal clerk, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing and abstracting a letter from the mails, and was sentenced to serve six months in the Miami county jail at Troy. Long was convicted of killing Charles Conrad of Barnesville on Sept. 5, 1922, whom he shot after an argument. Long, at the time, was under the influence of liquor.

REVOLT IN FAVOR OF REBELS

Federal Troops in Frontera Garrison Kill Commander.

DECISIVE BATTLES IMMINENT

Government Troops About to Open Offensive Against Forces of General Estrada in States of Jalisco and Vera Cruz—Smashing Blows Planned by President Obregon's Loyal Mexican Soldiers.

Mexico City, Dec. 13.—The federal garrison in the city of Frontera, state of Tabasco, revolted in favor of the rebels, killing the commanding officer.

The Obregon government has issued orders disarming all students of the national military academy in this city. The step was taken because of the fact that General Ramirez Garrido, who is now chief of staff under the rebel general, Estrada, was until a few weeks ago director of the academy, and it was feared by government officials that his propaganda against President Obregon might have a tendency to turn the cadets against the government.

The first smashing blow of the government's campaign against the rebels is scheduled to begin within a few hours, when the federal offensive opens against the rebel general, Enrique Estrada, in the state of Jalisco.

Troops under the command of General Joaquin Amaro have been instructed by President Obregon to proceed against the city of Guadalajara, now held by the Estrada forces. According to war office information, the advance on Estrada will be initiated by not less than 8,000 men of various branches of the army, while the advance guard of the rebels now reach from Ocotlan to Labarca. In the state of Jalisco, where it is said that the decisive battle of the campaign will be waged.

The troops are now in readiness to leave Esperanza, the mobilization point for the federal forces in the state of Vera Cruz, to attack the forces under the rebel general, Sanchez, who is holding both the port and city of Vera Cruz.

General Angel Flores has notified President Obregon that he has temporarily relinquished his candidacy for president in order to again take over his duties as governor of the state of Sinaloa, promising loyalty to the government.

ANTON LANG HERE

Arrives With Other Passion Players to Sell Wares.

New York, Dec. 13.—Anton Lang, three times the Christus of the Oberammergau "Passion Play," has come to America for the first time. He is accompanied by three other principals and 20 other members of the cast to exhibit and sell the handiwork of Oberammergau people, wood carving and pottery. "It is for the starving ones of my little town that we are here," the Christus explained. "Since the war things have been pretty bad in Oberammergau," Herr Lang said. "We want to work and save the people. But we must sell our goods, you know."

Raps High Taxes.

Toledo, Dec. 13.—Abolishment of high taxes will be the principal plank in the grange program for 1924. This was the message given members of the Ohio State grange by the national master, L. J. Taber of Barnesville, O. "The farmer will not halt progress," he said, "but our congressmen and officials must come to realize that their first duty is to reduce the cost of government and increase its efficiency."

Four Youths Held.

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—Two youths, registering as William Jennings, 27, and William Enls, who were arrested when found asleep in an automobile, confessed, the police allege, to having participated in a series of holdups by automobile bandits during the last few days. Shortly after the first arrests two other youths were arrested and confessed, according to police, that they were members of the gang.

"CZAR" LANDIS ON TOP

Baseball Magnates Adopt Many of His Famous Amendments.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—"Czar" Landis of baseballdom came through the session with the two major leagues unscathed. The reported antagonism the commissioner of the national pastime would find never got a chance to materialize. Within a few minutes after the joint session opened Judge Landis' voice rose to a dramatic height. For more than an hour he addressed the representatives of the National and American leagues. He told the magnates that he had heard rumblings that he was no longer in favor. He offered to tear up his seven-year contract that calls for a salary of $50,000 a year and has four more years to run. Turning on Ben Johnson he demanded to know something regarding the authenticity of certain criticisms centering in the commissioner's refusal to permit the American league auditor to go over the accounts of the Landis office. The magnates even became apologetic after Judge Landis dropped his verbal attack. The result of the meeting was that Commissioner Landis' famous 17 amendments, with but a few exceptions, were adopted.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Newark, O., Dec. 13.—A charge of manslaughter was filed against John Leake, 27, of Zanesville, alleged to have driven the Red Star bus that struck and killed Andrew Reinhold, 65, farmer, near here. Leake said the lights of another machine blinded him and he did not see the aged man.

FOOD CREDITS SOUGHT

Millions of People in Germany Facing Starvation.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—"The feeding of the German masses depends on the granting of food credits abroad. German agriculture is unable to supply the German people throughout the year. If we are unable to obtain credits to import the food needed, millions of people will be face to face with starvation."

These statements were made by Count Kanitz, minister of agriculture and food supply. He estimated the needed grain imports at 1,500,000 tons, and added: "But what we need most is fats. Our live stock, which was never sufficient, has fallen off since the war ended almost one-third. This deficit must be imported, but the present financial situation of Germany makes this impossible except through foreign credits. The uncertainty of the food situation is adding to the unhealthy excitement of the masses."

Seeks Griffis' Release.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Secretary of State Hughes is making efforts to obtain release from prison in Germany of Hoover Griffis of Hamilton, O., sentenced last week for his attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, slacker. Hughes informed Representative Roy Fitzgerald, Ohio, that he would try to get Griffis released. Hughes is understood to have taken up the matter with the German embassy.

A Cure for Romance

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

ADELAIDE RENNIE sat fingering the letter in her hands, while her mind went back into the past. Six months before she had married Jasper Thwing, the bank president, a man 20 years her senior. It had not been a love match. There had been no pretense of that on either side. But Adelaide was thirty, and the days of youthful romance had gone forever.

Now she had received a letter from Harry, in Montana, saying that he was returning. He had not known of her marriage. That was what she was thinking of.

Her mind had traveled back over the old days when Harry and she had been sweethearts, engaged lovers. They were to have married as soon as Harry got a position and saved money. But he could never either hold a position or save, and at last he had gone West, and the engagement had been broken.

Since his departure she had come to realize how much she cared for him. He was the only man who had ever won her heart. In a way she was fond of her husband, but Harry represented that romance that every woman needs. There was no romance about Jasper Thwing. He was solid, substantial, common-sense all through.

And Harry was coming back. He was coming to tell her that he loved her. And she would have to break the news to him.

This terrible weakness that assailed her seemed something that it was impossible to struggle against. What would she do when they met? What would he have the power to make her do?

A ring at the door interrupted her meditations. She heard the maid opening it. The girl came upstairs to the room in which she was sitting.

"It's Mr. Henry Ransom," she said. Adelaide felt her heart begin to beat forcibly—feebly. She stared at the girl in terror. "Show—show him up here," she whispered.

She leaned against the mantel, waiting for him to come. She saw Harry again, with his red, curly hair, his frank, exuberant, boyish ways that had won her heart. Five years ago! What an eternity!

Then he was coming into the room, and instantly she was carried back those five years. "How do you do, Harry?" she heard herself saying. How calm she was! How firm the hand that she extended was!

"So—you're married! I heard it ten minutes ago when I inquired for you!" "Yes, I'm married."

He burst out: "I've been looking forward to the day when I could return and claim you. Sometimes I nearly went mad in the loneliness out there. Now I come back and find you are another's."

"It is unfortunate."

"Do you care for him?"

"Really, Harry—" She wanted to laugh, it was so absurd, and she wanted to cry, it was so pathetic. It was Harry, just the same, impracticable, impossible.

He took her by the hands. "This marriage is no marriage. It isn't as if you cared for him. I have the claim that my years of love have given me. I want you to come away with me."

"Where?" she heard herself whisper.

"Back West."

She felt that her only defense was in irony. "I suppose you can give me something in return for what you are asking me to give up—my husband, my home, my reputation, everything?"

"Yes, my love, love that will never end. I will worship you as no woman has ever been worshiped."

"And—what position are you taking me to?"

He released her. In that instant she knew that the spell was broken.

"Why, I—I've only got the two fares out to Montana, but I can get a dandy job out there on a ranch, and you—you wouldn't mind cooking for a little while till . . ."

Then she realized how much the years had severed them. She had grown up while he remained unchanged. He would always remain unchanged.

And she found herself laughing hysterically.

"Harry, dear boy, run away," she said, "unless you want to stay to lunch and meet my husband. He'll be home presently. I'm a big girl now, and not a baby any more."

But she sighed a little as she saw him crossing the street dejectedly. Was all romance like that? It was a good thing to be cured. But it was a nice disease, in its way, too.

Watch Your Popcorn!

"Albert!" said the cautious mother at the zoo, addressing her little boy who accompanied her. "you'd better finish your popcorn before we go into the lion house; the sight of food always maddens them wild animals!"

Poet's Lofty Position.
Among the British men of prominence probably the one who most frequently refused money was Robert Browning, the poet. During the last twenty-five years of his life editors offered large sums for a short poem from his pen. But Browning said "No." He told his friends when they pointed out the unwisdom of this course that he was determined not to thrust his poems down the throats of people; that if they wanted to read him they could buy his books.

Phonograph-Alarm Clock.
The daily torture of the toiler's aural nerve by a strident alarm clock can be avoided in several ways. He may sleep all morning, or he may buy a gentle awakener now on the market. This new alarm clock rings no bell at the rising hour; instead, it starts a phonograph! Think of the delight of being awakened by the strains of "I Don't Care if You Never Come Back," or "Everybody Wants the Key to My Cellar."—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

White Rhinoceros.
The great white rhinoceros of the upper valley of the Nile has several remarkable characteristics which mark the difference between it and its smaller cousins, the ordinary rhinoceroses of Africa, Asia and Malaysia. According to Dr. Herbert Lang of the American Museum of Natural History, who recently returned after studying it in its native haunts, its lower lip is armed with a plate of horn as a protection against the sharp swordgrass upon which it feeds. Another strange thing is that the great horns which it carries on its nose—the front one of which is about twice as long as the rear one—do not grow from the bone but from the skin. This is continuous under the base of the horn.

Five armed men held up three men carrying the payroll of the Hilton Clothing company, Newark, N. J., relieved them of bags containing $7,000 and made their escape in an automobile.

Deceiving the Men.
The fair young thing was making her first long trip alone and had been warned of bold, bad men and the many dangers that beset her path. She had to change trains and was puzzled, so she said to a young man: "Sir, what train do I take?" "Where are you going?" he inquired. She glared icily and swept on to another. One of those dreadful men. This was repeated three times. Finally she asked the ticket man, and when he asked where she was going she hesitated and then boldly said: "London."

He put her on the London train, and just as it was drawing out of the station she leaned out of the window and shouted back: "Ha, ha, I fooled you. I'm going to Birmingham."

FARMER MAKES LIGHTING PLANT FROM OLD JUNK
Generator From an Old Automobile Engine Furnishes Current to Illuminate Barn.

Two dollars and an idea gave Carl Helber, a dairy farmer who lives near Ann Arbor, Mich., a splendid lighting system for his barn which costs him almost nothing to operate.

Mr. Helber has a herd of 16 Guernseys and Holsteins, and he uses a gasoline engine to run the machine which milks them. Not long ago, when the days began to get shorter and it was necessary to light the lantern during milking, he began to wonder if he couldn't illuminate his barn more efficiently. He talked it over with his helper, Richard Elgin.

The result was that Mr. Helber visited his cousin, who owns a garage at Dexter. In the junk pile he found part of an engine and six headlights minus the bulbs. For these he paid his cousin $2.

In the Helber barn the two men inverted the crank-case and generator that had been salvaged from the junk pile and installed them above the gasoline engine used to run the milking machine. The engine below was connected with the generator by a belt in such a way that the milking machine and generator could be operated simultaneously. The six headlights were equipped with bulbs and fastened in strategic positions about the barn. Two wires were arranged leading from the generator, one to carry the current to the lights and the other to connect with the ground.

While the cows are being milked the barn is brilliantly lighted at no additional cost. At other times when light is desired the gas engine may be started in a moment, and the cost is not great.

Mr. Hakon H. Hammer, president of the Universal Trading and Shipping company of Seattle, who is associated with Capt. Roald Amundsen, the famous explorer who discovered the South pole and was the first man to negotiate the passage of the fabulous Northwest passage, completing the circumnavigation of the Arctic circle. The new expedition which Mr. Hammer and Captain Amundson will head in three metal planes from Spitzbergen, Norway, next summer will bisect the Arctic circle, and pass above the North pole, a feat never before even attempted, and land at Point Barrow, Alaska. Valuable photographs of hitherto unexplored terrain will be made, and the two explorers will decide for all time whether or not there exists a new continent in the frozen North.

The photograph shows Mr. Hammer in New York, where he and Captain Amundson arrived from Wainwright, Alaska, en route to Norway, where they will establish a chain of depots similar to the one which they have just arranged in Alaska.

KEEPS 65 DOGS IN HIS FLAT

New Yorker Threatened With Jail Unless He Disposes of Them. Unless Joseph Oller, forty years old, of 6 Willett street, New York, gets rid of his 65 dogs in his apartment he will have to go to jail. Fifteen tenants of the six-story tenement house at the Willett street address in Essex Market court recently complained of the dogs.

Mrs. Cecile Rubenfeld, who lives on the floor above Oller and who obtained a summons calling Oller's appearance in court on a charge of disorderly conduct, said her eight-year-old son, Joseph was taking singing lessons, but could make no progress as long as Oller's dogs were in the house.

"Every time the boy begins to sing the dogs join in the chorus," the mother complained.

Oller promised Magistrate Joseph Rasino to get rid of his pets.

Cheaper to Slap Wife.

OLDTIME DOLLS

Display Case at Public Library of Much Interest to Little Folks.

The Circleville Public Library has a display case filled with things to interest the tiny tots—the favorite old fairy tales, nursery rhymes and modern stories in attractive picture books. These are the stories that delight the smallest children when read or told to them. The attractiveness of the exhibit is added to by illustrative toys loaned by Hamilton's, Wilder's Cash Store and Closson's. The exhibit case has been loaned to the library by Crist & Mason.

It is planned for next week to have an exhibit of old-time toys and trinkets that made Christmas for the children of long ago. If you have any, please telephone the library. Two doll cradles, one sixty and the other over a hundred years old, have been promised. Old-time dolls are especially wanted. What have you among your treasures?

Gifts May be Left at Hamilton & Ryan's Drug Store.

Our Community Christmas Tree needs your thought. It stands cold and bare awaiting the touch of Christmas goodwill to make it breathe the fellowship of the Christmas spirit. The committee in charge has designated Hamilton & Ryan's drug store as the receiving stations for the gifts of money and toys that are to make possible the transformation of the spirit which the tree symbolizes. Bring your toys, bring your contributions. Remind your thoughtless neighbor that he, too, has a part in our community celebration. When you see the Christmas tree jar in your grocery just remember that it is there to enable you to do your bit. It is for all of us to have our part in making the community our community. Do your Christmas giving early.

The purpose is to stretch the existing employment opportunities among as many families as possible.

SCHOOL ANNUAL

Sale Contest is On—Next Book Will be of Special Interest.

A High School Annual selling campaign is now in progress in Circleville. The campaign is being carried on in the form of a contest between junior and senior classes. The class that sells the most annuals before Wednesday, December 19, will be allowed to have their flag on the school for two days. As would be expected much class spirit is being created and both sides are working hard to win the honors.

The reduction of the price makes it possible for more people to buy and naturally we expect a larger circulation this year than ever has been before. The size of the annual has been increased and every possible effort is being put forth to increase the quality of it. The 1924 annual will be of special interest to the alumni. The name, address and occupation of every person who has been graduated from the Circleville high school in the last ten years will be included in this volume. An annual is a reminder of the days gone by. It is a book that should be cherished by every true friend of the high school.

Remember that the sale of the Annuals is not limited to the high school pupils so be prepared to give your subscription to one of the salesman that will call on you before next Wednesday.

Hotel Stenographer
BY ROE FULKERSON

retribution has met iniquity face to face."

"Tell me about it," encouraged the House Detective.

"Coming downtown on the car this morning," laughed the Hotel Stenographer, "I got on far up the line where I live, and had a seat. I opened up my morning paper and was looking over the scandal section when a woman got on who grasped her umbrella in a way which showed she got what she went after.

"She stood in front of me and glared as tho I ought to give her my seat. Of course I gave her the Ritz stare, and read on, but about three blocks later an old gentleman was assisted aboard by the conductor and I hopped to my feet to give grandpa a seat. Before I could help him into it this dame slipped in behind me and sat down. I told her I was giving the seat to the old gentleman, but she said it was ladies first and she was a lady. I explained to her that her actions threw considerable doubt about it. Just then a man got up and gave the old man a seat and I had either to take this hen by the neck or stand up, so I stood.

"That's the dame who went out of here so fast. She came downtown to try to get a job as matron of an orphan's home that my sodality is raising the money to keep going. I am the chairman of the committee and she came to me for the job. O, baby, didn't I tell her a few? I'll tell the world I did.

"Kelly, it certainly is a shame that retribution cannot step on the heels of iniquity always and without us waiting for the slow-poke Nemesis to get in his work."

"You said it, you said it," agreed the House Detective.

No Law Schools in England.
England today has no law school in existence. Harvard's Law school is not only the oldest existing law school in the United States, but it is the oldest existing academic law school in the English-speaking world. They have a professor of law at Cambridge, and a professor of law at Oxford, in England, but they do not teach law in the manner of a professional school. They simply lecture upon law, or endeavor to give a scientific preparation for the profession of law, but do not give a scientific, professional training.

A recent canvass by a pharmaceutical journal has disclosed the fact that the number of women pharmacists in the United States has more than doubled within the last five years.

Reflection.

All the world used her ill, said this young person, and we may be pretty certain that persons whom all the world treats ill deserve the treatment they get. The world is a looking glass and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look sourly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion; and so let all young persons take their choice.—Thackeray.

To Duplicate Baby.

Shakespeare's Greenwood.

Less than three hours' travel from dirty, busy London is the forest of Arden, which is hallowed in the minds of all who speak English by the fact that Shakespeare found in it the inspiration for his woodland scenes, and especially for the fantastically beautiful ones of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The great oaks under which his fairies danced still stretch out their branches over the shadow-dappled sward.

Mauritius Rich in Ferns.

The island of Mauritius, less than one-third the area of Delaware, has 235 native species of ferns. Java, a little larger than New York, has 460, while Brazil contains 387. All Europe furnishes but 67 species, the arctic zone 26; North America, north of Mexico, has about 175 species.

AMUSEMENTS

That Agnes Ayres is one of the most popular stars of the screen is amply evidenced by the great success of her new Paramount picture, "The Heart Aider" which will be the feature at the Met theater Thursday and Friday with Mahlon Hamilton as leading man.

The story is one of absorbing interest and there is much relishable comedy. At Palm Beach, Muriel Gray played by Miss Ayres, is making an effort to create a favorable impression on John Dennis, a bachelor, portrayed by Mahlon Hamilton. But the latter believes that Muriel is rather frivolous and his indifference wounds Muriel deeply. She is determined, however, to force Dennis to take her in his arms and makes this her boast. Muriel at first is a miserable failure as a vamp but finally makes good her boast.

There is an excellent supporting cast which includes Charles Ruggles, Frazer Coulter, Marie Burke and Charles Riegel. Wesley Ruggles directed the picture, the scenario for which was written by Jack Cunningham, who made the adaptation of the Emerson Hough novel, "The Covered Wagon." Charles Schoenbaum was the photographer.

FARM FLOCK OF CHICKENS

Harry Hische Gives Interesting Account of His Work in Georgia.

Day Old Chicks Were Shipped From Southern Ohio Hatchery and Splendid Results Were Obtained—Sold Over $2000 of Eggs.

"During the first week of May, 1922 we received 1000 day old chix from the Southern Ohio Hatchery of Circleville. These chix reached Ringgold, Georgia, in good condition and we were more than pleased with them. The shipping loss was practically nothing and if I remember correctly there were 1002 chicks when we opened the boxes.

"These chix were placed under four brooders and given their first feed which consisted of bran, a charcoal sprinkled on sand with buttermilk to drink. During the first few days they were fed very sparingly—not much at one time but every two hours from 7 a. m. until 5 p. m., with the idea of keeping them hungry and active. Their feed was bran, chix grains with buttermilk before them all the time. The bran was fed in shallow pans and the chix grains on newspapers. After the chix were one week old they were given green feed daily and had placed before them at 8 a. m., 12 and 3 p. m. as much as they could clean up in about twenty minutes. Scratch feed was fed at 6 a. m., 10:30 a. m., and 4:30 p. m.

"The mash we used for the first two weeks was mixed as follows; 12 pounds bran, 5 pounds shorts or middlings, 5 pounds corn meal 1½ pounds meat scraps ½ pound bone meal. We purchased chix grains for the first month. We kept buttermilk before them all the time for the first month, starting the third week we fed scratch grains three times a day, 6 a. m., 12 and 4:30 p. m. Mash hoppers were filled at 8 a. m and 2 p. m. with enough mash to last about two hours at each filling. The mash we used from the third week until the 20th week was mixed as follows; 9 pounds bran, 6 pounds middlings, 1 pound bone meal, 6 pounds corn meal, two pounds meat scrap. Buttermilk was fed twice daily. Charcoal, shell and grit was before them at all times. We fed the same from the third to the 20th week.

"When the chix were eight weeks old we separated the cockerels from the pullets putting them in a fattening pen where they were finished off and sold in Chattanooga as broilers. With the exception of a few culls all our cockerels were sold by the time they were eleven weeks old.

"Our chix were brooded in a shed roof laying house 80 feet long by 20 feet wide with temporary partitions put in to keep the chix in four pens. After they were one month old the partitions were taken down and they were given the run of the house.

"The pullets were not pushed into development as we wanted them to be in good condition with large frames by October first. From October first until the tenth no mash was fed but they were given all the scratch feed they would consume to put fat on their large frames.

"These pullets could have been brought into laying at four and one-half months but we held them back until they were five and one-half months old. However, a few eggs were laid during the first week in October. About the middle of October we penned the pullets in the laying house put on lights and started to push them for egg production.

"Our method of feeding these pullets was to keep mash before them at all times, feed plenty of scratch feed green feed and one feed of moist mash a day.

"Our production from the 401 pullets in November was 16.3 eggs per bird, in December 17.55 eggs per bird. Our flock averaged 76.62 eggs per bird for the months of November, December, January, February and March. Our flock averaged for the year 179.83 per bird.

"Our eggs at first were sold locally, but we soon found that New York was the place to sell white eggs and thru the kindness of Messrs. Jacoby and Young of the Southern Ohio Hatchery we were put in touch with the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers association of New York City. Their returns and the treatment we received was so satisfactory that we joined this association a thing we never have regretted. We sold over $2000 worth of eggs from our small flock.

"We were so well satisfied with the chix purchase from the Southern Ohio Hatchery in 1922 that we ordered 2500 to be shipped in April, 1923. From this number we now have 1000 good pullets that laid 3806 eggs during the third week in November or an average lay of about 55 per cent.

Held Whiskers Sacred.

If the beard has any standing in the world today, it is undoubtedly because of the Jews, who held their whiskers to be sacred, and swore by them. Later, the Turks did the same. The sultan's followers used to comb their whiskers after prayers, catch the hairs that came out, break them in two and bury them, on the theory that in some mysterious way the hairs helped to make soft walking to the gates of paradise. This the Turks firmly believed.

Right and Wrong Argument.

Argument is good when it seeks to bring out facts. When it seeks the tawdry glory of temporary mastery, it is a wind from the desert, neither bearing rain, nor soothing the traveler.—Exchange.

JAMAICA ISLE OF PHANTOM SHIPS

Buccaneers Planned Raids in Port Royal, Which Was Wickedest Spot on Earth.

Washington.—"The island of Jamaica in the West Indies which, according to newspapers, is having its tariff disputes with the mother country over the duties imposed on its articles of export, was in the latter half of the Seventeenth century the stronghold of the English buccaneers," says a bulletin based on a communication by Neil Ray Clarke to the National Geographic society.

"Morgan, the greatest and most sagacious of the pirates, planned most of his expeditions in Port Royal, which had the reputation of being the richest and wickedest spot on the earth. And proud the city was of the notoriety. Defiant, flamboyant, and unabashed, it greeted the chiefs who lent riotous color to its life, emptied gold into its coffers, and tinged its nights with drunkenness and revelry.

Tumbled Rendezvous Into Sea. "In those days Port Royal had a high wall about it and wide quays, whereon its habitues emptied their pieces-of-eight. Then, as if providence were outraged by its utter disregard of moral laws, an earthquake on June 7, 1692, shook Jamaica to its foundations and tumbled this den of iniquity, with scores of the pirates, into the sea. When the water is calm the coral-encrusted ruins of the old town may be seen beneath the water, even today, and the natives still regale the visitor with stories of phantom ships that are trying to make the port.

"One interesting relic remains, however, in Fort Charles, a still old veteran of sun-faded bricks. Some of the officers' quarters and a paved court, so white that it dazzles, are still standing. Flower gardens now encircle its walls; its gun embrasures are hidden by bushes; the birds haunt its crannies, and the lizards crawl lazily over its parapets. Horatio Nelson was stationed at the forts in 1779, when he was twenty-one years of age, and the paved platform which was known affectionately as his 'quarter-deck' may still be seen.

Town Is Disconsolate. "The town now standing on the old site is respectable, faded and disconsolate. On the fences and bushes, in melancholy ugliness, the commonplace inhabitants dry the fishing nets by means of which they eke out their existence.

"The pirates, with the two bases, Tortuga and Port Royal, for operations, took toll of all the islands and lands along the Caribbean.

"Across the magnificent harbor from Port Royal lies Kingston, the capital of Jamaica and one of the most important ports in the West Indies. Its foundations were laid by Port Royal survivors.

"Though only 2 per cent of Kingston's 50,000 people are white, no small body of citizens of any city has shown more courage, energy and determination during the hurricanes and earthquakes which have time and again literally destroyed its very foundations. Hardly had its charred ruins cooled after the violent earthquake and fire in 1907 before the survivors were busy building, between the palm-fringed shore and the blue hills beyond, a clean, regularly laid-out town to take the place of the one which Nature had just destroyed.

Bride, Forced to Sleep Alone, Obtains Divorce

LYNN, Mass.—Judge Alden P. White of the Salem Probate court recently granted a divorce to Mrs. Frank L. Struthers, from her husband, a wealthy broker, because the latter's mother refused to allow her son to sleep with his bride on their honeymoon. The night she was married the plaintiff testified her mother-in-law stopped them on their way to bed.

"Frank has always slept on this floor near me since he was a child," she cried, "and he mustn't sleep near you."

During the eighteen days she remained at the Struthers home, the bride testified, she passed a honeymoon alone in a dismal attic room.

Purloin U. S. Letters Carrying Dollar Bills

Bucharest.—Complaints of the handling of foreign mail, particularly that coming from the United States, have resulted in action being taken by the International Postal union. Unless there is improvement, the union says, Rumania may have to withdraw.

One cause of trouble has been the habit of Americans, when writing to friends in Rumania, of enclosing currency. Mail sorters know this, and many an American letter has been purloined.

Stump Blighted for Years Bears Chestnuts

Newton, N. J.—L. T. Brown, head of the Farm bureau of Sussex county, announced that he will investigate a report that a chestnut tree, apparently destroyed by the blight which swept the state more than twenty years ago, has come to life again. A tree on the grounds of the home of Dr. Carroll F. Maher, at 41 Woodside avenue, Newton, which was reduced to stump after the blight, this year bore several clusters of chestnuts from new saplings which grew from the stump.

BLOW WIPES OUT FIVE YEARS OF "VET'S" LIFE

Prohibition Agent Finds He Has Two Wives After Accident.

St. Cloud, Minn.—The blow on the head that knocked Arthur E. Whitney, federal prohibition agent of Minneapolis, under the wheels of a beer truck at New Munich, Minn., recently, fracturing his skull, also turned the pages of his life back five years, it was revealed here.

Whitney was overseas 27 months during the World war, was gassed three times and a victim of aphasia. His life after the last gas attack was a blank.

After the war he landed in New York and obtained a job as a federal prohibition agent. There he met a young woman known as Mrs. Ann Whitney, who has lived in St. Paul with him for the last two years.

When Whitney, at a local hospital, regained consciousness for the first time since the blow, standing beside the bed was Mrs. Luella Whitney, who married him in Grafton, N. D., in 1912, and who bore him two sons.

He said he knew nothing of Ann Whitney, nothing of the baby soon to arrive, nothing of the almost complete divorce proceedings between himself and Luella and nothing of how he was hurt.

Whitney had a faint idea that he had been a government dry agent, however. He asked his wife how the boys were and apparently did not realize the passage of time.

Physicians say Whitney will recover.

Mannequins Desert

Paris Dressmakers

Paris.—The threatened passing of the mannequin has become one of the tragedies of Paris.

The gorgeous creatures who trail majestically across the dressmaker's showroom and demonstrate to madame how wonderful she thinks she is going to look in that high-priced gown are becoming alarmingly scarce. The shortage is so great that the directors of several of the leading fashion houses in Paris have decided to start a school to provide recruits for their sorely depleted ranks.

The reason for the mannequin's disappearance?

"South Americans come to Paris and marry them. North Americans come to Paris and put them in the movies. Scandinavians come to Paris and go crazy about them. No wonder we haven't any mannequins," explained one of the dressmakers.

"And what's the answer?" echoes one of the few mannequins still in the game. "It's very simple. To be a good mannequin, you cannot be more than twenty or weigh more than 115 pounds. You must not be too short nor too tall.

"Also, we live an unreal life. We spend our days in an atmosphere of elegance and luxury. We get accustomed to that, and our wages are not enough to live up to it. Therefore, we stay in the business just long enough to get out of it."

Father Gives Up Son

So He Can Get $1,000,000

Boston.—Through the resignation of Brice S. Evans, Jr., as guardian of his nine-year-old son, the boy may eventually come into possession of an estate of more than $1,000,000 left by his maternal grandfather, William H. A. Fraser of Ottawa, Ontario. Judge Dolan of the Probate court appointed the Old Colony Trust company of this city as guardian.

Mrs. Evans, the daughter of Fraser, died shortly after the birth of the boy, who lived with his grandparents in Ottawa until their deaths, and has since lived with his aunt, Mrs. Charlotte E. Armstrong. Mrs. Armstrong, the chief beneficiary under the wills of Fraser and his wife, is understood to have made provision for the fortune to go to the boy after her death.

A trust fund of $150,000, founded for the boy in Fraser's will, was conditional upon his remaining under the care and control of some member of the Fraser family and if the father had control the trust was to become void. Evans is an insurance broker in this city.

Baby Cries When Father Kills Large Blacksnake

Kane, Pa.—With a two-foot blacksnake in one hand and a spoon in the other, fourteen-month-old William Miller of this city was having a gay time—until his father heard the noise. Then father killed the snake, while the baby screamed in protest. It was half an hour before the baby's sobbing stopped.

House Will Be Built of Sawdust

Hoquiam, Wash.—The first house in the world to be built entirely of sawdust goes to Hoquiam.

A mill near there has a process by which sawdust is molded into all kinds of building materials, including planks, beams, boards, lath and shingles.

The material is waterproof, sound-proof, grained like natural wood, and can be stained or painted.

SAT ON THRONE 400 YEARS

When Charlemagne Died Body Was Clothed in Robes and Placed on Chair of State.

If you ever visit Aix-la-Chapelle the guide will show you a marble throne on which the Emperor Charlemagne, or Charles the Great, sat for nearly 400 years. This is how he did it.

When Charlemagne died in the year 814, they clothed his body in the imperial robes and placed it in a sitting position on his throne. On his head they put his crown, in his hand his scepter, and in his lap an open copy of the Bible.

Two centuries later the vault was opened and the body found to be well preserved. The vault was shut up for 200 years, when it was again opened and the body removed and placed in a gold and silver coffin, where it still remains in the cathedral.

For 300 years afterward the marble throne on which Charlemagne sat for 400 years was used in the coronation ceremonies of the German emperors.

When They're Regular.

In the smoking car the conversation turned on the merits and demerits of various ways of preserving health. One stout, florid man held forth with great eloquence.

"Look at me!" he shouted. "Never a day's sickness in my life, and all due to simple food. Why, gentlemen," he continued, "from the age of twenty to that of forty I lived an absolutely regular life—no effeminate delicacies, no late hours, no extravagances. Every day, summer and winter, I was in bed regularly at nine o'clock and up again at five in the morning. I worked from eight to one, then had dinner—a plain dinner, mark my words; after that an hour's exercise; then—"

"Excuse me, sir," interrupted the facetious stranger in the corner, "but what were you in for?"—Houston Post.

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 16

WORLD-WIDE MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:9-15; 28:30, 31; Rom. 15:18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."—Rom. 1:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Preaching by a Riverside.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Crosses the Sea.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul's Ambition.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Aim and Methods.

The Gospel having broken the confines of the Jewish city and country, the middle wall of partition being abolished, the time came for it to leap across the Aegean sea and begin its conquest of another continent. Christianity thus ceased to be an oriental religion and through the centuries has been mainly occidental.

I. Call to Macedonia (Acts 16:9-11).

1. The Vision (v. 9). Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. This made plain to him the closed doors about him. The Spirit as definitely leads in the closing of some doors as in the opening of others. In finding the divine will we should look both ways. Before there can be any great forward movement there must be a vision. The great achievements of men are the products of visions.

2. The Advance (vv. 10, 11). As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward therein. Visions must be quickly translated into aggressive actions or else they are blotted from our sides. They neither questioned the wisdom of God nor delayed action. This is characteristic of all of God's true servants. With a straight course Paul moved out of his own country to the strategic center of a new continent.

II. The First Convert in Europe (Acts 16:12-15).

The missionaries first went to Philippi and spent several days in studying conditions there. The Jewish element in this city was comparatively insignificant, so much so that they could not have a synagogue. Therefore, the devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women assembled there. A certain woman from Thyatira, a proselyte, believed his message and was baptized. The work of the Lord thus had a very humble beginning, but it was destined to transform all Europe and the world. The steps in Lydia's conversion are worthy of note for they are typical.

1. Attendance at the Place of Worship (v. 13). Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer. Lydia was seeking the heavenly light. God sends many an inquirer to the prayer meeting.

2. Listening to the Preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14). It is highly important that at every prayer meeting the Word of God shall be spoken, so that the inquirer after God may find the light.

3. Her Heart Was Opened by the Lord (v. 14). Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. No one is ever converted against his will.

4. She Was Baptized (v. 15). Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her Household Believed Also (v. 15). This was as it should be. Real conversion cannot be concealed.

6. Practiced Hospitality (v. 15). Those who have experienced God's saving grace are at once disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

III. Paul Preaching in Rome (Acts 28:30, 31).

Paul continued his labors in widening his testimony to the world amongst thrilling experiences. In spite of beatings, shipwrecks and imprisonments, we find him near the close of his life in the imperial capitol city. Though a prisoner he continues to preach the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. In the providence of God, he had liberty to preach the Gospel to all who came to him.

IV. Paul's Aim in Preaching the Gospel Was World-Wide (Rom. 15:16-21).

His heart's transcendent desire was to so preach the Gospel that the Gentiles might become obedient to the faith. In order that this might be accomplished he pushed out into unexplored regions, so that the light of the Gospel might shine into the darkness of the heathen world. May we follow his example, for there is much work to be done.

Prayer.

Bring your plans, your purposes to God's throne. Test them by praying about them. Do nothing large or new—nothing small nor old, either—for that matter—till you have asked there, in the silence of the secret place, "Lord, what wouldst Thou have me to do?"—Alexander MacLaren.

Worry Is Not Faith.

Worry is not faith. It is doubting God, who has promised to supply all our need in Christ Jesus.—Record of Christian Work.

White Pearls Most Valuable.

Pearls that come from the coast of Australia are of many shapes and colors. Those under ten grains are sold by the ounce; above that by the grain. Color has a deal to do with the value. The white pearls go mostly to Europe and the yellow ones to India. In Australia an ounce of good white pearls will fetch up to $500, but sometimes realize only a fifth of that amount. The yellow pearls may be rated on an average of about half the value of the white ones.

Fables of Genius.

Buffon wrote in lace ruffles and Sir Walter Scott liked to array himself in his shooting jacket from six o'clock until dinner time, whilst Guido Reno painted with much pomp and considered himself at his best when dressed magnificently, and had his pupils attend him in silence, ranged around him.

Writes to Beethoven.

A letter addressed to the composer Beethoven was received in Vienna the other day from a woman in the provinces. She wrote she had recently heard some of his music and was anxious to place her daughter under his tuition. The postal authorities delivered the letter at the house in which Beethoven lived and where he died 92 years ago. The concierge said no such man resided there, so the postman sent it to the dead letter office.

Bug Holdup.

A bug may hold up a locomotive. It takes a large number to do the trick, but it has been done. Specialists in the train holdup line in bugdon are the army worm, the tent caterpillar, the cotton worm and migratory locusts. Huge water beetles traveling in force have been known to accomplish the same feat. When these insects swarm upon the track they so effectively grease the rails that no wheel can be kept turning.—Boston Post.

Kisses Were Sacred.

Among old laws against kissing those of Iceland appear to have been the most severe. Banishment was the penalty laid down for kissing another man's wife, either with or without her consent, and the same punishment was enforced for kissing an unmarried woman against her will.

Canine Characteristic.

DAMAGE CASE

Against Scioto Valley Traction Company

Taken From Jury

The suit of Delno C. and Rea Klingensmith against the Scioto Valley Traction company in which they asked damages in the sum of $35,000 against the defendants for the death of their son who was electrocuted by the high tension wires of the defendants was suddenly terminated Wednesday afternoon. Judge Curtin took the case from the jury, to which ruling the attorneys for plaintiff took exceptions. The case will now be prosecuted to the court of appeals.

Barton Walters and Meeker Terwilliger represented the plaintiff and Judge Oscar Newman, of Columbus and Charles Gerhardt, the defendants.

CAPTURE OF BOY BANDITS

Assailants of Albert Palm and Pat Brannan Are 17 and 19 Years Old.

Apprehended at Homes Near Valley Crossing and Brought Here—Arrests Made by Sheriff Young and Chief of Police Myers.

Thirty-six hours intervened between the commission of the crime of robbery here Monday night and the capture of the alleged bandits who held up Albert Palm. Three young men were placed under arrest Wednesday afternoon at their homes near Valley Crossing, nine miles south of Columbus by Sheriff Robert J. Young and Chief of Police John Myers.

The prisoners brought here are Lester James, aged 19, son of George D. James, a grocer, and Owen Roshon aged 19, and Gloyd Roshon aged 17, sons of A. A. Roshon, truck gardener. The young men refused at first to admit anything, but Lester James, who seems to be the leader, admitted later to Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger that they were in this city about 11 o'clock and played a game of pool in Picken's restaurant. When the Palm cafe was held up, he said only he and Owen participated.

The story of how the sheriff and chief of police got their first tip and how they ran down the boys is interesting. The tip was given Tuesday morning when a Chevrolet car was found stalled in the mud three miles east of Tarlton. H. E. Stroupe of Tarlton passed the car and took the serial number and reported the fact. Two young colored men from Chillicothe, who had taken the wrong road to Columbus, turning from the Kingston pike into the old Tarlton road got into the mud and had to be pulled out. They secured a Mr. Fetherolf to pull their car out and went back to Tarlton. On their way in they picked up two boys whose car had also become ditched. G. T. Lanman, a garage man took these boys into Lancaster. They left their car in charge of Gloyd Roshon.

At Lancaster they bought tickets over the Scioto Valley Traction for Ellis station. When they reached home, the boys secured Lester James' car, went to Tarlton and pulled the machine that was out of commission back home. When the officers reached their home Wednesday they found the car with the rope still attached.

Taking the serial number of the car as a clue, the officers went to the Chevrolet agency and by running down the number, they found that the car had been sold to the Roshon's and then it was an easy matter to locate their people.
